Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of the Markets-Another Philadelphia Brokerage Firm Compelled to Suspend-Prettyman's Bank.

DUN & CO.'S REVIEW OF TRADE. Campaign Falsehoods and High Rates for

Loans Tend to Depress Business. NEW YORK, Nov. 28 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The past broken week has not improved the business outlook. The difficulty of obtaining commercial loans increases, not here only, but at most other points. Banks and other lenders, from the largest to the smallest, appear to have been induced by recent events to strengthen themselves. Merchants have grown more cautious about extending obligations, or making purchases which can be deferred, apprehending that retail buying may be cut down somewhat by reduced ability of some consumers and by the disposition of others to economize in view of the extensively reported advance in prices. Meanwhile speculation has been reviving to an unhealthy extent in some directions, on the theory that troubles are over and things will improve. The money markets are thus loaded with increased demands for carrying securities and products at a time when trade especially needs more liberal supplies. At most of the interior markets money grows more stringent and the scarcity begins to affect trade at important centers, though the volume of business is still very large. Boston reports extreme firmness and higher rates—8 per cent. even between banks; trade is affected and most branches quiet. Cleveland notes an active demand for money and a tight market, though collections are remarkably satisfactory. At Detroit the demand is strong at 7 per cent., colder weather helping trade there and at Mil wankee, where money is very active, manufacturers asking largely at 7 per cent. The market at St. Paul is easier and the feeling better, but bank failures at Duluth cause some uneasiness. Cincinnati reports a close market, though collections are very fair and sales have exceeded last fall's. At Kansas City the supply of money is close, trade and collections being healthy. Money is quiet at Pittsburg at 6@7 per cent, but Bessemer steel is 50c lower, and demands for iron smaller. Southern reports are less encouraging. Money is in sharp demand at New Orleans, the movement of sugar being unprecedented; exceedingly light at Savannah, with commercial prospects less bright; more timid at Atlanta, though holiday trade opens with good feeling; and in western Florida a short corn crop and embarsassments of merchants cloud the prospect, but at Baltimore money is easy, manufacturers active, and the retail trade improved, though the jobbing trade slackens.

The situation of the great industries is less clear. The week has been one of pe-culiar dullness in the iron trade, and the tone is weaker. There is apprehension of forced sales by some Southern furnaces, and one large transaction, at $10 for gray forge, is reported at Birmingham. Rail purchasers hold off, and there is a visible decrease in orders for finished products.

The speculative markets have been advancing. Wheat has risen 614c, corn 21sc, oats, 414c, lard 15c per 100 pounds and coffee 4c, pork being unchanged and oil 1c lower. Cotton has also yielded asixteenth, in view of crop prospects. The rise in breadstuffs has no increased foreign de-mand to justify, but operators seem to have concluded that monetary difficulties are all over, and that they can carry all the grain until Europe is forced to buy. Tin has advanced to 20.70c, but copper and lead are a shade weaker. The coal market has been dull and disappointing, actual sales being mainly at September prices and stock

The Treasury has not been able to give any assistance to the money market during the past week, but has put out $1,500,000 more silver notes, nearly balancing net withdrawals of $1,800,000 other money from circulation. The merchandise exports from this country largely exceed imports, though at New York the exports for November have been but 314 per cent. larger than last year, and the imports here 11 per cent. larger.

Business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 249, as compared with 274 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 249.

FAILURE AT PHILADELPHIA. B. K. Jamieson & Co., Bankers and Bro-

kers, Fail to Meet Their Obligations. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—The failure of B. K. Jamieson & Co., bankers and brokers, was announced on the Stock Exchange this afternoon. The firm has made an assignment to Samuel Justine Thompson. About two thousand shares were sold on the Stock Exchange for the account of the | where the pressure remains high, the high- | seriously ill. It was a long time before she tirm. The only statement that could be obtained from the firm regarding their difficulties was the following: "Our assignment is due to the stringency in the money market and the impossibility of replacing loans called by the banks; also, to the fact that we have been compelled to sustain enterprises with which our name has been connected." Nothing regarding their liabilities or assets could be learned. The firm has not carried on a very large stockbrokerage business for some years past, being chiefly interested in the promotion of financial projects. B. K. Jamieson, the head of the firm, is largely interested in the Edison Electriclight Company of this city, being its vicepresident. He is also a director in the fourth-street National Bank, the West Philadelphia Bank and Safe Deposit Com-pany and the West Philadelphia Mutual Saving Fund and Trust Company. Colonel Jamisson is also treasurer of the famous Clover Club and one of its best-known members. The firm consists of B. K. Jamieson, Wm. Stewart, J. Henry Kershaw, Philip F. Kelly and Arnold Plummer. It was reported this afternoon that B. K. Jamieson lost a considerable amount on the St. Paul & Minneapolis Mortgage and Trust Company, which was organized last year. The authorized capital was $800,000 and the amount issued $500,000, of which 50 per cent, was paid in. A considerable portion of the capital was secured in this city through B. K. Jamieson & Co. Many prominent business and professional men beprospered, and it is said its prospects are not flattering. The firm has really been in trouble for several months and has been trying to extricate itself from the difficulty. During the money squeeze in August it came very near going under, but it was helped out and enabled to go on. When money was loaning at exorbitant rates the firm had a number of loans called and could not pay them. For some time past conservative brokers have avoided transactions with Jamieson & Co., believing that the firm had too much money tied up in outside enterprises and that it would get into trouble. Large sums were invested in timber and coal lands in various sections of the State, thus taking away money which could have been used to better advantage in the present crisis. The firm has been interested in the development of bituminous and semi-bituminous coal property in the Horse-shoe district of Center county and the Clearfield district of Clearfield county, recently opened by the extension of the Tyrone & Clearfield railroad. These undertakings have absorbed vast amounts of capital. ductive and such securities as have been issued on the properties are hardly available in a close money market. The firm was also interested in the North Georgia railway, the Valentine Iron Com-pany, and had also invested largely in Tenheavy losers, the lands never having paid. 3. K. Jamieson, the head of the firm, said to-day: "Our affairs are in such a state at this time that I cannot say what our liabilities and assets will amount to. If we are d by creditors we will probably not e able to resume, as then our liabilities will exceed our assets. A full statement is being prepared and will be made public in a few days."

The liabilities are variously estimated at from $200,000 to $1,000,000, but no figures whatever have been given out on which to base this estimate.

WHERE THE MONEY WENT.

Why There Was but Little Cash Left in Mr

Prettyman's Private Bank. CHICAGO, Nov. 28.-Experts are at worl on the books of Prettyman's private bank, which was placed in the hands of a receiver two or three days ago, and it is said the developments so far do not brighten the outlook for the creditors. The accountants have, in a hasty examination, discovered a ticket representing $800 drawn by Cashier Johnson in addition to the large amounts already confessed by him to have been borrowed shortly before the bank closed its doors. It also appears that H. H. Bishop and C. M. Hardy, at about the same time, drew $700 each. The books also show that during the latter part of last week a num-ber of preferred depositors closed their ac-counts. A few days before the assignment the bank discounted some $15,000 worth of paper held by the North Division Lumber Company. Among the bank's assets are two notes of the lumber company, one for $32,000 and the other for $20,000. Mrs. W. L. Prettyman's personal account is over-drawn $450. The $25,000 which Prettyman gave his wife for the bill of sale of the Ash-land, Wis., lumber, appears to have been drawn by the banker on Friday, the day before the assignment. The entry is for $2,518, and was charged to the account of W. L. Prettyman & Co.

Other Business Embarrassments. MINNEAPOLIS. Nov. 28.—There is great financial excitement in Duluth consequent upon the big bank failure of a few days ago. To-day there was a heavy run on Hall's West-end Bank, and the cashier at last announced that unless it ceased the bank must suspend. This checked the rush. The bank will be all right in two

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The schedules in the assignment of John T. Walker, John W. Combs and Joseph Walker, composing the firm of John T. Walker, Son & Co., to Wm. G. Ryle, of Paterson, N. J., were filed in court to-day. They show liabilities of $2,094,208; nominal assets, $1,433,352, and actual assets, $1,009,540. FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 28.—The assignee of the suspended firm of Renner, Cratsley & Co., of this city, wholesale stationers, stated to-day that he will be able to pay 40 cents on the dollar. The liabili-ties are about $30,000. RAISED MONEY ORDERS.

Arrest of a Postoffice Clerk on the Charge Changing $1 Orders to $100.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 28.-Wm. M. Donahue, clerk in the Boston postoffice, was arrested in the Springfield postoffice this evening, when he presented three money orders for $100 each, payable to "George B. Swett." The arrest was made at the direction of Boston postoffice authorities, and officers have been watching for him for three days. It seems that before leaving the money-order department of the Boston office last week, Donahue sent out a number of orders for money payable to fictitious persons. The officers claim he has raised $1 orders to $100 and the work is very plain on the orders. He waived identrication in sending the orders and has thus been able to harvest his money on fictitious names. When arrested he had a bottle of laudanum, a new revolver loaded and a box of cartridges in his clothes. Addresses in his pocket indicate that women are at the bottom of his trouble, and it is thought he was meditating suicide.

Evanston's Heroic Students. CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The gold medals awarded the Evanston life-saving crew for their gallant work on the night of Nov. 28. 1889, in saving the crew of a wrecked steamer, were presented to the young gentlemen, last evening, in the presence of 1,000 citizens of Evanston. Before the presentation Secretary Windom's letter was read. The crew is composed of students of the Northwestern University, commanded by Capt. Lawrence O. Lawson. The names of the crew are as follows: Stroke, G. E. Crosby, '94; F. M. Kindig, '92; W. M. Ewing, '93; J. Loining, '94; W. L. Wilson, '92; E. B. Fowler, '93; R. N. Holt, '93. Last year the Evanston station saved more lives than all the twenty-two stations on the lakes combined, and the Evanston station did more work than any other in the country except that at Lewes, Del. Considering the youth of the members of the medal crew, their achievements are remarkable. The average age is only twenty-two years.

Wants His Gambling Losses Repaid. NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 28. - W. W. Moore filed two suits in chancery court here to-day, one against the Tennessee Brokerage Association for $4,875, the other against the McCrea company for $8,050. Defendants conduct bucket-shops, and plaintiff claims that he lost the amount sued for in the transactions in futures carried on with them last summer. In the latter part of August Moore became deeply involved with the banks in this city, having obtained from them $18,000 by what is known as the "kiting" process-that is, when he became indebted to one bank he would give a check on another for the amount. Wm. Moore, father of W. W. Moore, raised the money at the time and met the deficit in bank. Suits are likely to prove sensational, as the bucket-shops will fight the matter to the end and promise interesting disclosures.

King Kalakau Coming. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—Advices by the steamer Australia, which arrived from Honolulu to-day, state that King Kalakan is coming to San Francisco on the cruiser Charleston, and will arrive the latter part Newly-Married Couple Driven from Their Home by Two Weeks of Noisy Serenading.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Nov. 28 .- Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Hanfilton, a newly-married couple, have been driven from their home in Dunnelen by the sxtgaordinary welcome they received at the lias of the villagers on their return from their wedding trip. Scarcely had they sentled down in their cozy little cottage, before a gang of young men, boys and girls began a protracted se-ries of serenades, which they kept up each night from 8 o'clock till early morning. The melody of the first night was that to be obtained from old tin-kettles and wash-boilers, thumped vigorously with stove-lifters and hickory clubs. Much to the surprise of the crowd, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton did not appear on the balcony, before which the appear on the balcony, before which the visitors were assembled, to thank them for their courteons and generous greeting. The hour grew late, but the serenaders persisted and did not disperse till some time after midnight. Though surprised at Mr. Hamilton's frigidity the crowd decided to try again the next night to bring him forth and tell them how glad he was to see them. So they phunded away in increased numbers, and added to the variety of sounds by introducing such popular instruments as tin horns and bowbells. Still Mr. Hamilton did not respond to their neighborly act, and again they went home puzzled. The next night they enlarged their list of attractions by pressing an old accordion, a harmonica and a clarionet into service, and were gratfied by clarionet into service, and were gratfied by the appearance of a face in an upper reindow. The face was only that of Mr. Hamilton's mother-in-law, and they could not hear for their own cheering justiment she said, but the fact that they had begun to attract attention was a source of gratification, and, satisfied for one night, when went away.

Every night for two weeks they continued their concerts and built big bon-fires? front of the house in the hope that Mi Hamilton would come forward. Town the end they grew angry at his repeated ignoring them, and began to make the mid-night hideous with shrieks, and cat-calls, and hootings. William Bodine and other good people were scandalized by such goings-on. Mr. Bodine tried to get the serenaders arrested for breaking up a big box which had contained a piano for his the village constable laughed them to scorn, and himself joined the serenaders, Night after night the volunteer musicians gave their concerts and clamored for tarts, how you possibly came to make such a misand eider, and cranberry pie. At last Mr. Hamilton appeared. He shook his fist at the crowd and shouted: "You get no preserved peaches from me!" Next day he made preparations to move, and last night; when the serenaders assembled, their victim had flown. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton spent a devout Thanksgiving day at their new home in Somerville.

AN AMERICAN MARQUISE, Beautiful Blanche Tucker Making a Name

French Literature. Recent letters from Paris bring the news that a beautiful Chicagoan who has already distinguished herself as singer and au-thoress is soon to be heard of as a dramatist and actress. The lady is Mme. Blanche Roosevelt Machetta d'Algeri. who tifteen or sixteen years ago was wel known by music lovers in Chicago as Blanche Tucker. She began a year or two ago, in conjunction with Victorien Sardou, the construction of a drama based upon her romance, "The Copper Queen," but the work dragged, and for a time it was virtually abandoned, the other engagements of the playwright preventing his giving to this dramatization the attention that the Marquise d'Algeri exacted, but recently it was resumed, and now the an-nouncement of its completion is made and the additional fact stated that when it is played it will be with the fair American in the leading role.

The Marquise was born and passed her childhood in Wisconsin. The family removed to Chicago about 1870, and soon after that Miss Blanche, who was then but a young girl, became the soprano soloist in a West-side church. Her talent for music did not long go unrecognized, and when she was seventeen years of age an ex-Governor of Wisconsin, who had known the family in LaCrosse, offered to defray the expenses of her musical education in Europe. She had been abroad but two years when her kind old friend died. Then a party of gen-tlemen in this city, who were all in moder-ate circumstances, undertook to see her through the remaining years of her preparation for the operatic stage, and did so faithfully. Miss Tucker, about this time, took up correspondence for a Chicago news-paper, over the signature of Blanche Roosevelt, which has been her stage and pen name ever since. She developed a de-cided literary instinct, and was quick to acquire a knowledge of languages, so that within two years of the time she went abroad she spoke French like a Parisienne and was able to converse fluently in Italian. After nearly five years' study Miss Roosevelt made her operatic debut under the management of Mr. Gye, at the Covent Garden Theater, in London, and created a most favorable impression. The physical and nervous effort, however, was too much for her, and after the performance she fell | One-price Clothing House. as able to sing in public again, and whe she did it was in this country, whither she came with Sir Arthur Sullivan to assume the principal part in his "Pinafore." Subsequently Longfellow's "Pandora" was made the basis of an operetta, in which Miss Roosevelt sang acceptably. In 1878 Miss Roosevelt became the wife of Marquis Machetta d'Algeri, son of the Italian Min-ister of Posts and Telegraph, and who had been trained for the diplomatic service. Franc B. Wilkie, the well-known journalist of this city, gave the bride away. The marriage has been a happy one to both par-The Marquise d'Algeri has written sev-

The Marquise is famed all over Europe for her beauty. Two years ago a Paris correspondent of the New York Sun wrote of her as one of the four most beautiful women in Europe, and last month the Lou-b don Era related how, on a recent departure from St. Petersburg to London, the Russian embassador to the court of St. James was asked by the Czarina to bring her portraits, on his return, of the six most beautiful women in London, and how he returned with the head of the Princess of Wales surd rounded by six little heads of the Marquise d'Algeri, each differing from the others.

Sabbath Observance.

Philadelphia Inquirer. The inconsistency of the Sabbatarians is seen in the fact that they never refuse to avail themselves of the product of Sunday work. If a letter is laid before them on Monday morning they never delay opening it because they know it must have traveled on Sunday. They never refuse to read Monday morning's paper because was prepared on Sunday, and very few, of them will refuse to travel either in street cars or on the railroads on that dawni The truth of the matter is that the Jewish Sabbath cannot be restored. It is not adapted to this country, and all our manners and customs are at variance with it. The Sabbath must be observed-no principle o American polity is more clearly settled than that—but it is the Christian, not the Jewish Sabbath, and even the most rigid Sabbatarians find themselves doing, as matters of course, things which would have been punished with death under the Mosaic dispensation. "Times change, and men change with them."

RESPECTABLE SHOP-LIFTERS, The Merchant Does Not Arrest Them Be cause of Their Patronage.

Boston Globe. "It is remarkable," said a prominent merchant on Washington street the other day, just after a sensational arrest of a shop-lifter had attracted a large crowd be-fore one of the stores, "how hard it is to distinguish the professional sneak-thief from the respectable but loose-honored customer. We business men know what a risk we run by leaving small and attractive objects within easy reach of any one who may come in. Why! the goods disappear by the dozen and you don't know how! Now and then you catch one person in the been consumed made a similar effort, but act, but you can't say anything, or, at most, you can put it on their monthly bill, and then it is often struck out by the indignant customer, who 'don't understand

"If you make a fuss you are sure to lose one or more valuable customers, who have patronized your house for many years; and all for a trifle, often not worth more than three or five cents.

"Perhaps it is an elderly lady who quietly pockets a toy for her little girl, because she wants to get even with you for a bargain in which she considers herself outraged; or it is some swell young man who has long wanted just such a cigar-holder, and is ashamed or unwilling to submit to his lack of ready change.

"But it is the professional shop-lifters that make me maddest. Now and then you see them 'swipe' a valuable article, and you keep your mouth shut, because you don't want to get an otherwise seemingly honest creature into jail, whose first offense it may be, and who may be ruled by the same curious, though rather natural, ideas that children have, who, not for the world, would touch a piece of money, but whose conscience does not rebel when they fasten to any morsel of food they may come across.

"Next day" hear that your respectable person has been arrested in this or that store, and proved to be one of the notorious crooks of the city. I declare, it makes one feel like hiring private detectives, the way Honest John does, at his emporium at Philadelphia."

When I first applied them I was all raw and bleeding, from scratching The laster, Rev. M. L. Haines, D. D., will preach to-morrow at 10:45 s. m. In the evening the congrega-tion will unite with other churches on the annimyself, but I went asleep almost immediately something I had not done for years, the effect was so soothing. In about two weeks I could stand straight, but not walk, I was so weak, but my sores were nearly well. As near as I can judge, the Cuticura Remedies cured me in about six to eight weeks, and up to this date (i. c., from January, 1879, to January, 1887) I have not been sick in any way, or have had the least sign of the disease reappearing on me.
